SIERRA AVE. ANNEXATIONISTS URGE ACTION BY TRUSTEES

Edward Pierce Secures Water Service for Lots in Tract 2134—City Takes Precautions With Regard to Vine Street Reservoir by Ordering Plans Drafted for Providing Cover—Earl Webb Asks for Auto Camp Permit on East Palmer Avenue—Grand View District Assured of Garbage Collection

At the conclusion of the reading of minutes of the previous meeting of city trustees at the regular meeting last night in the council chamber an invitation was tendered to any one in the audience to address the board and W. E. Pelley on behalf of himself and a delegation present accepted the invitation and protested against delay in considering the petition from residents of the Sierra avenue district of Sycamore canyon asking for the calling of an election to vote upon annexation to the city of Glendale, which was presented at the last meeting. Trustee Lapham explained that trustees had not wished to act on the petition until its legal aspects had been passed upon by the city attorney. Mr. Shaw stated he had looked over the petition and was not entirely satisfied with the description of the district proposed to be annexed. Inasmuch as the board had previously voted to defer action until July 7, no further action was taken, it being the understanding that a better description of the district would be requested from the petitioners. Mr. Pelley made a strong plea setting forth the urgent need of the annexation asked for that Sierra residents might secure needed water, light and telephone service now denied them.

Water Service in Trace 2134

Edward Pierce whose application for water service to lots in Casa Verdugo presented at the last meeting had been referred to city attorney, was also present and showed that the city is already serving most of the lots on the tract and on that showing the board voted to authorize the public service department to supply water to lots 13 to 18 inclusive, owned by Mr. Pierce in tract 2134 and to lay 350 feet of pipe on Randolph street for that purpose on condition that Mr. Pierce pay for said pipe and for the laying of same, the size of the pipe to be determined by the public service department.

Fractures Dress Ordinance

(By International News Service)

ZION, Ill., June 24.—Mrs. Sarah Johnson, aged 21, of Winthrop Harbor, is in jail here today charged with fracturing Wilbur Glenn Voliva's modest dress ordinance in three places.

Mrs. Johnson was arrested as she stepped from a train and booked in the followings:

Wearing a blouse with neck cut below the junction of the base of the neck and collarbone.

"Whenever you pay for my clothes you can tell me what to wear," the young woman was said to have told Chief of Police Becker. Her trial was set for tomorrow.

SERVICE EMBLEMS GIVEN EMPLOYES BY TELEPHONE COMPANY

In recognition of continuous service in the Bell Telephone System, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company is presenting to its employes emblems indicating their length of service. The emblems are of gold and are mounted as pins for the women and buttons for the men. The design consists of a telephone bell and a wreath encircling the monogram of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, above which appears a star or stars indicating the employe's period of service. A single star indicates, in the case of women, five years continuous service, and, in the case of men, 15 years continuous service, each additional star indicating, in the case of both men and women, five years additional continuous service.

Throughout the entire company several thousand employes are being awarded service emblems under the initial distribution. Those employes whose term of service does not entitle them to emblems under the initial distribution will be awarded emblems after they have been in service for the required period. As employes complete each additional five years of service, their present emblems will be exchanged by the company for others bearing an additional star.

With the emblem, each employe is receiving an engraved card signed by the president of the company, G. E. McFarland, expressing the company's appreciation of the employe's service.

This special recognition on the part of the company of continuous employment is an evidence of the value which The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company places upon long continuous service and the fact that the company has in its employ such a large number of employes of long term of service is an indication of the satisfactory conditions under which the employes work.

Fred Deal, manager.
Annie M. Chase, cashier.
Helen Winkler, chief operator.
Eula Miller, supervisor.
Helen M. Mead, janitress.

Operators

Gertrude Catron,
Hazel Colton,
Beatrice Francy,
Marie McQuiggan,
Clarine Pogue,
Katherine Pogue.

Death Valley Made Safe

Death Valley, California, and the desert surrounding it have at last been made safe for travelers, in the belief of officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Employes of the club have returned home with the announcement that they have completed the work of erecting metal guide wastes of the valley and that motorists no longer need fear to traverse it.

All water holes and wells have found without trouble either at night or day, it is stated.

The guide signs erected were made of metal so unappreciative travelers could not use them for firewood.

More than a year was consumed in charting the valley and in making and erecting the signs.

GLENDALE'S PART IN GREAT B. P. O. ELKS' CONVENTION

City Trustees Grant Request of Elks' Lodge for Appropriation to Help Finance Parade Entry—Lodge to Enter Marching Club of 600 Men in Uniform, Led by Glendale Band—Glendale and Its Lodge Will Be Advertised by Huge Elephant

Albert D. Pearce, as past exalted ruler of the Glendale Elks' Lodge, made quite an eloquent address to the board of city trustees last night, as spokesman for the committee which accompanied him, and included Alfred Priest, exalted ruler, and John Fanset, past exalted ruler.

"I come," he said, "as a delegate from one of the largest fraternal organizations to ask you that you help us in the matter of entertaining guests who will be in Glendale in attendance on the grand lodge of Elks in Los Angeles, which begins July 11 and lasts for one week.

"It is estimated that Los Angeles will entertain during that week, over 100,000 visitors. The plans of the lodge committee, in so far as they affect Glendale, have been established as follows: Our lodge here will hold open house during the whole week. Auto rides have been scheduled for delegates and their guests and ladies, and in all probability at least 50 per cent of those who visit Southern California will some time during that week come to Glendale.

"As stated, the Elks' club will keep open house and that expense we expect to take care of ourselves, but there is one form of expenditure we feel the city may well help us out on, and that is the entrance from Glendale of a float in one of the large parades. We are fortunate in having in our membership, Mr. Chobe, who has carried off first honors in designing and decorating municipal floats. He is to work out a design and decorate a float for us. The cost will be somewhere in the neighborhood of $800. We do not know what funds the city may have that could be drawn upon to help take care of this item, but feel that if funds are available, the city trustees could set aside a portion of them (and I think $500 ought to be the minimum) for the purpose of advertising Glendale in this pageant.

"In connection with the convention and at the expense of the lodge we are also planning entrance in another parade wherein all the lodges in the country will have representation. Through our exalted ruler, Alfred F. Priest, we have arranged for the entrance of a marching club, in which 600 members will be in line in uni-

WHO DARES DENY TO FUTURE CITIZENS NOURISHMENT NEEDED?

In an original article just published, Dr. M. J. Roseneau, professor of preventive medicine at Harvard university, says that milk is rich in vitamines, which are essential to robust health.

He says furthermore that milk is rich in calcium in readily assimilable form, and that children need five times as much calcuim per pound of body weight as adults do. Each child should have a quart of milk a day, says the professor, who is a competent authority in his line.

The milk barons have put themselves on a par with the sweat shop and mill owners who force little children, scarcely more than babies, to toil long hours when they should be playing and building bodies to house sane minds of future citizens.

Could anything be more treasonable than to harm little citizens in the making, more cruel than to deprive little children of the food that means their very life?

BRIDAL SHOWER FOR MILDRED SWENSON

The pleasant home of Mrs. James H. Current of 405 East Harvard street was the scene of a pretty party and shower for Miss Mildred Swenson, of Pacific avenue, soon to become the bride of Owen Dair. Miss Ila-Mae McClammy and Mrs. Current were joint hostesses and in honor of the event decorated the house with masses of Cecil Brunner rosebuds and Centaureas in the carrying out of a pink and orchid color scheme which featured the affair from the pretty place cards to the embellishment of the shower, presented in the course of a social evening. The honoree was the recipient of many beautiful gifts of linen, glass, silver, etc., and received the hearty congratulations of the guests, the list of those present including Mrs. Swenson, mother of the bride-to-be, Miss Olive Swenson, Mrs. Dair, mother of Owen Dair, his sister Louise Dair, Bernice Haun and Miss Ruth Gomber of Los Angeles, Miss Gladys Gaarder, Miss Aileen McMasters, and the two hostesses.

GLENDALE IS READY FOR THE GREAT INFLUX OF C. E. REPRESENTATIVES FRIDAY

Glendale has put her house in order and is all dressed up, ready to receive the 3000 or more Christian Endeavorers who will be her guests from Saturday to Wednesday, with the poise and graciousness that is only possible to the hostess who has systematized her preparations beforehand.

Patriotism Displayed

The patriotic note is dominant in the decorations at the Christian Endeavor auditorium, where all is in readiness for the opening of the convention tomorrow.

Festoons of bunting, in red, white and blue, and magnificent flags deck the walls and rafters and beams, transforming the place from a vast, barren hall to an auditorium with an atmosphere of purposeful, sacred enthusiasm.

Above the stage, where the great chorus was massed last evening for its final rehearsal, hangs a beautiful stained glass transparency depicting the Good Shepherd rescuing the lost sheep, and over this appear in large letters the words of the theme of this convention: "Looking Unto Jesus."

Just below the stage appears in the Christian Endeavor colors, purple and gold, the monogram of the society wrought in large letters, electrically illuminated, and colors of the society are also prominently displayed on the back wall.

Street Decorations

The streets in the business section are likewise decorated in the resplendent colors of our country, beautiful flags being prominently displayed, and an arch at Brand boulevard and Harvard street pointing the way to the auditorium. These handsome decorations belonged to the Greater Glendale Improvement association, and were turned over to the city, at the suggestion of L. T. Rowley, to be used in dressing Glendale up for this occasion; later they will be given to the chamber of commerce.

The show windows of many of the stores are also decorated in the colors of the Christian Endeavor society and it is expected that others will also show this courtesy to its visiting delegates and so help to emphasize in the minds of outsiders the thought of Glendale's hospitality.

NATIONAL GUARD TO BE READY FOR CAMP AT YOSEMITE PARK

With a view to having the local company of National Guards completely equipped so that there may be no delay in the final preparations for the encampment to be held at Yosemite park from July 10 to 25, Captain Thos. D. Watson, at the weekly drill of the company last night, began the issue of field equipment that has heretofore been held in store.

All uniforms and other service material furnished by the government is of the best and has been shipped direct to the local company headquarters from the war department storehouses. "Glendale's Own" should make a particularly effective appearance at the summer camp in their new regalia.

An opportunity will be given local guardsmen to proceed at once to Yosemite in the event they wish to secure employment in connection with the preparation of the military camp site, according to the terms of a communication received by Capt. Watson this morning from the office of the adjutant general of the state. The communication follows:

From: The Adjutant General, State of California.

To: Commanding Officer, 5th Sep. Co., 4th Sep. Bn., Inf., Cal. N. G., Glendale, Cal.

Subject: Hire of Enlisted Men.

1. You are requested to furnish this office, with the least possible delay, with a list giving the names and grades of any men in your organization who will be available to leave their home stations on July 1 and to be employed as truck drivers and laborers prior to the commencement of the camp, July 10, at Yosemite valley for the purpose of establishing the camp, and who will remain during the entire encampment.

"2. The qualifications of each man will be given opposite his name. Only truck drivers who have driven the one and one-half ton Packard truck will be employed.

"3. Laborers will be paid at the rate of $2:50 per day; truck drivers at the rate of $3.00 per day. A free mess will be maintained at the camp for the employes.

COVER FOR VINE STREET RESERVOIR

The unprotected condition of the Vine street reservoir, which is open, was the subject of a communication from City Manager Watson to the board of city trustees last night, in which he explained that at the time the contract for its construction was let, Engineer Lynch pointed out the need for a covering but being not sure that the funds would hold out, the provision was deferred. It is now evident that there will be ample funds available from the $260,000 bond issue and as Mr. Lynch estimates the cost of the cover will be but $1000, the board instructed Mr. Watson to notify him to prepare plans and specifications for the cover without delay. The footings for the covering supports were constructed as a part of the concrete lining of the sides and bottom. Mr. Watson stated that a temporary fence would be placed around the reservoir for protection until the cover should be finished.

JUNE 27 PROMISES TO BE BUSY DAY AT POLICE COURT

Arrests made yesterday afternoon and this morning for violation of the traffic ordinance, include the following who are to appear before Judge Lowe on June 27:

Warren M. Watkins, 4043 West Eighth street, Los Angeles, exceeding speed limit; W. M. Murphy, 932 South Hope street, Los Angeles, exceeding speed limit; W. M. Arlington, 3233 University avenue, Los Angeles, exceeding speed limit; E. W. Sparling, 6252 Schuyler avenue, Los Angeles, exceeding speed limit; G. McAfee, Wright-Calender Bldg., Los Angeles, speeding; Philip Carmoun, 615 South Pacific avenue, Glendale, speeding, no chauffeur's license.

"Ghost Snake" Found

(By International News Service)

PAWNEE CITY, Neb., June 24.—A reptile which has been named by the discoverers, the "ghost snake" has been discovered by residents living in the bottoms of the Missouri, near Peru, Neb. The new snake is pure white in color and resembles the cobra in build. It will not retreat when molested as will snakes of this region, but fights. It runs in groups of from five to ten reptiles, while common snakes never are seen more than two together. The people of that section are inclined to be a bit afraid of the new intruder until it has been discovered whether or not it is poisonous. An attempt will be made to capture one of them and determine its kind and from whence it came.

FIFTEENTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY IS CELEBRATED

An event of more than usual interest occurred in social life at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Ecklebarger on West California street, being the 15th marriage anniversary of these excellent people. Their home was beautifully and profusely decorated in orange and white producing a most pleasant effect. At the hour of 8 p. m., 36 guests had gathered to make merry and help them to celebrate. Everybody was in his or her best mood of mind and all went well with the ringing of the wedding bells.

The program of the evening included the playing of games and a general good time in a social way. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Ecklebarger appeared in the midst of the happy company, the bride gowned in a beautiful white robe, carrying a bouquet of Shasta daisies, the groom with broom in hand. They stood in great composure, except the bride who manifested a little unrest. A service was read by the acting minister in which the pledge was renewed by the worthy couple to continue on in the even tenor of their way agreeing to bear and forebear until death do them part. Then followed hearty congratulations extended lovingly by all, the sons of the happy pair taking a part. At this time the serving of light refreshments took place.

At the end of the evening all were called to their feet for the singing of one of our beautiful hymns, and prayer was offered by the Rev. C. R. Norton, and this concluded a most delightful occasion.

In the prayer hope was expressed that all might be privileged to return to this home five years hence, and that Heaven's richest blessing might attend the home, the father and mother and two sons.

On parting all felt that it had been good to be there, and wishes were extended for many happy returns.

EXTRA TRAFFIC MEN FOR NEXT WEEK

Concerning extra help that will be needed during the Christian Endeavor convention, City Manager Watson submitted a communication last night to the board of trustees, as follows:

"The attendance at the Christian Endeavor convention to be held here from June 25 to 29 inclusive, is estimated to be from 4000 to 5000. During this period the police will require a number of extra traffic officers to handle the automobile traffic at a number of the street intersections of our main traffic highways, also extra precaution should be taken in regard to fire protection. There are other matters, such as additional street lighting and policing at the automobile park. All of these will require extra help as the regular forces employed will not be sufficient to adequately take care of these matters. It is hardly practicable at this time to specify the exact amount of help that will be needed in the several divisions. We would therefore respectfully request authority to employ such help as may be needed in this connection.

By unanimous vote the board authorized the city manager to employ whatever help is needed.

Violets were Napoleon's favorite flowers.

AUTOS COLLIDE ON CENTRAL AVENUE

Dr. Clarence E. Thompson, 201 West Arden avenue, while driving his automobile south on Central avenue, at 7:40 a. m., today, collided with a Ford speedster which was travelling east on Lomita street. According to the report made by Dr. Thompson the Ford car struck the right front fender of his machine, hurling it against the curb where it overturned.

Neither Dr. Thompson, nor his wife, who was with him at the time, were injured. The Ford speedster was slightly damaged, but its driver escaped unhurt.

URGE PRESENCE OF CITY CANDIDATES

All city candidates for office are invited to be present at the regular monthly meeting of the Eastside Welfare association, to be held at the Broadway school, on the evening of Monday, June 27. It is probable that the improvement of Sycamore canyon road will come up for discussion.

A LARGE NUMBER OF NEW PUPILS ARE EXPECTED IN THE FALL

In the absence of two members of the board of trustees of the city schools last evening no official action was taken on the various matters which were to come before their attention. Superintendent Richardson D. White and D. S. Hibben, president of the board of trustees, received a committee on schools from the Grand View district.

It is estimated that 75 children from this district, who formerly attended the Burbank school, will enroll in Glendale schools for the coming year since this section is to be included in the Glendale school district. The Grand View district committee are planning to ask that a school be eventually built in their district and in the absence of such a school, at the present time, propose to ask that transportation be furnished to bring children of families residing there to the Glendale schools.

W. M. WINDHAM THROWS LIGHT ON LUMBER INDUSTRY

Quotes Astonishingly Low Figures Obtained in Seattle, Where Lumber Is Lower Than It Has Been in Years and Mills Running But 33 Per Cent of Normal—Dealers and Builders Helpless in Grip of Powerful Trust, Which Should Be Subject of Grand Jury Investigation, in His Opinion—Made Purchases for His Own House on Pacific Avenue

W. M. Windham, who recently returned from Seattle, brought back some interesting statistics relative to lumber stocks and prices in the north.

Seattle was the scene of Mr. Windham's business activity as a building contractor for about twenty years, during which time he erected buildings roughly valued at $40,000,000. He therefore feels thoroughly familiar with the building industry in that section of the country and his thoughts naturally turned in that direction when he ran up against conditions here that did not please him.

Eight years ago, he says, he retired as a contractor and has since confined his work along that line to the improvement of his own property. He came to Glendale about a year ago from Hollywood, where he had intended to improve vacant property he owns, with ten apartments. Because of the high cost of materials and labor he abandoned the project until conditions should change and decided he would try Glendale as a residence city. A house and lot were purchased on Central avenue for his immediate shelter, but for his permanent home he bought acreage on North Pacific avenue, where he began the building of a residence. Then his troubles over the quality and price of materials commenced. Cement and gravel delivered for his foundation work were both rejected as unworthy but he kept his temper until lumber which was supposed to be Oregon pine and billed as such at $45 a thousand, was discovered to be spruce and of very poor quality at that.

At once he decided to return to his old stamping ground in Washington to see what lumber could be had for there near the source of supply, and these are some of the prices which he says were quoted to him in the northern city:

2 by 4, regular lengths up to 24 feet, surfaced one side, delivered on job in Seattle, $12.50 a thousand.

2 by 4, random lengths, $11.

THE MAGIC OF THE AMPICO

My friend Chummy, who is now visiting in New York, sent me the following letter care of the BARNES-SHUCK MUSIC CO., of 211 North Brand Blvd.

Tuesday night.

Martha Malicia My Dear:

We have arrived! Our train was five hours late. Nanny Mums chauffeur whisked us through what seemed to me a marvelous electric wonder city. My eyes are quite blinky and I'm really very tired. Will be sure to keep my promise and write at least a note each week. Yours,

CHUMMY.

P. S. Uncle Buds and Nanny Mums have some very important guests tonight. I really believe it must be Olga Samaroff herself. Isn't it thrilling? Just now she is playing Debussy's Claire de Luna. Won't it be wonderful to meet her again? It must be she. I am sure I can't be mistaken. Marty dear: Thursday.

Imagine being awakened by that lovely melody from Thais, The Meditation! Though it's 2 a. m., I simply can't sleep a wink until I've told you something about this most wonderful day of all my life. After Uncle Buds left, I ask Nanny Mums if it was really Olga Samaroff I had heard playing last night. And you can imagine she was surprised that I had guessed her little secret. She promised to take me to her, and we went into the music room together. As we passed through the door, she pressed a button and the piano, as if suddenly moved by magic, fingers began slowly the first strains of Chopin's Nocturne in C. Sharp Minor. I fear your Chummy was very stupid, for I stood spellbound until the last faint notes had died away. Nanny Mums explained to me that this was not black magic but a reproducing piano called the Knabe Ampico! A wonderful instrument that reproduces the selection just as the artist plays them. Nanny Mums has promised to take me to the great recording laboratories tomorrow to see the rolls made.

Yours,

CHUMMY.

Her next letter, telling of the wonders of the great recording laboratories will be here next week. In the meantime if you are impatient to solve for yourself the mysteries of the Ampico, Mr. Barnes of the Barnes-Shuck Music Co. will be glad to demonstrate the magic instrument in either the Knabe, Haines Bros. or Franklin pianos.

A Flowerpot Refrigerator.

An ordinary unglazed-clay flowerpot can be used for keeping butter and similar articles of food cool in hot weather.

The dish containing the food is set into a larger dish and the inverted flowerpot set over it. Water is poured in the larger dish and the whole arrangement is set in some place where there is a free circulation of air. The porous clay pot absorbs the water, which, rapidly evaporating, keeps the contents of the food dish sweet and cool for a reasonable length of time.

Today I saw that most adorable little vine-covered bungalow at 316 North Belmont avenue in which Arthur J. Van Wie, whose picture you see above, lives with his wife and two young children. Spencer, a real boy of ten, and dear little Edwin Case who is "six and three quarters years old," as he proudly told me, were on the lawn, playing "Lection." Of course, their own daddy, who has been continuously in the service of the city hall of Glendale, and recently City Clerk of Tropico, by appointment, was unanimously elected as the City Clerk of Glendale every time. It was just a joy to watch the two little youngsters playing at what has now become their favorite game, so their mother, Mrs. Van Wie, tells me. Both Mr. and Mrs. Van Wie have made many friends during their eight years as residents of Tropico and Glendale, and all who know Mr. Van Wie, and have had any business dealings with him, are confident of his success in the coming election, which is to be held next Tuesday. It is Mr. Van Wie's happy faculty, you see, of making friends with all whom he comes in contact with, and particularly during his service in the City Hall of Glendale and as City Clerk of Tropico. It was his reputation that no matter what a person's grievance might be, or how disagreeable the world in general might appear to them at that time, Arthur Van Wie, always managed to send them away with a smile, and he was invariably the richer for having gained a friend. It is all important in selecting a man for City Clerk that he have that rare personality which marks the tactful diplomat. Mr. Van Wie is a good-fellow everywhere, being very well known as a talented amateur entertainer. Mrs. Van Wie, active member of the Broadway Parent Teachers Association, and Chester and Edwin Case are smilingly confident that their Daddy will undoubtedly be successful at the polls next Tuesday, as do his many friends.

PLAY DAY FOR MOTHER

IT'S ALL OVER NOW! Why the proverbial "Blue Monday," of course! Impossible? Not at all! You see Washer Wilson has solved your apparently unending "Washday" problems. Haven't you seen the Locomotive Washer, that "masterpiece of simplicity" at his store at 140 S. Brand blvd? With thhe Locomotive Washer it isn't even necessary to lift the clothes from the wash boiler into the washing machine, for the machine itself boils the clothes! Yes, one of its wonderful features is the heating attachment which both boils and sterilizes the clothes while washing them! You needn't even worry about the heavy bedclothes, for as Washer Wilson will show you, the Locomotive washes them exquisitely clean, and as for wringing them—why, the large, detachable wringer handles the heavy pieces just as quickly and thoroughly as the lighter fabrics. And, better news yet, Washer Wilson is the first dealer in his line to reduce the prices on ALL washing machines! At Washer Wilson's, 140 S. Brand, they're just about pre-war prices! Mr. Wilson carries the standard well known makes of machines, and will be glad to demonstrate them for you at any time. Let him show you how to save money, time, and energy, and at the same time make "Blue Monday" a veritable "play day" for mother.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 24.—A second order cutting wages of railroad employes was issued by the United States railroad labor board Monday, it was learned today.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 24.—Yale drew first blood in her annual regatta with Harvard today. The blue freshmen defeated the Harvard squad in the two mile race, from the navy yard at Redtop to the Redtop.

SACRAMENTO, June 24.—The formation of an organization to be known as the American Women's Overseas League, an order of women similar in scope to the various leagues of former service men, was announced by the secretary of state's office here today following the granting of incorporation papers. The league will establish headquarters in Oakland.

LONDON, June 24.—Reports that Eamonn de Valera, president of the Irish republic had been arrested in Ireland, but was subsequently released were officially confirmed by the Irish office today.

LONDON, June 24.—Forty British soldiers of the military escort of King George while he was in Belfast, are reported to have been killed in the wreck of a troop train by Sinn Feiners, said a Central News dispatch from Belfast this afternoon.

London, June 24.—The great dirigible balloon R-38 (rechristened the Z. R.-2), which has been purchased by the United States government, completed its first trial flight this morning. The test was entirely successful. The flight was made from Cardington, Bedfordshire. The weather conditions were perfect. After a voyage of six hours and twenty minutes the dirigible landed.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Grover C. Redding and Oscar M. McGravrick, leaders in the Abyssinian movement, were hanged in the county jail at 7:27 a. m., today. They paid with their lives for the shooting to death of Robert L. Rose, sailor of the Great Lakes Naval Training station, in a South Side riot while he was protecting the American flag.

LONDON, June 24.—The civil ceremony, uniting in marriage the Duke of Marlborough and Miss Gladys Deacon of Boston, took place at the British consulate at 11 o'clock this morning. The religious ceremony will be conducted tomorrow afternoon.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—John Exnicios, new federal prohibition supervisor for the Pacific coast, today set about making good his intention to make his territory a "veritable Sahara of alcoholic dryness." "New blood" in his enforcement division is one of the means to be employed towards the dry end which Exnicios seeks to attain. Exnicios expects a crew of 70 agents would be available July 1 to assist in mopping up the alleged state of "wetness" said to exist in Pacific coast cities.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Some extremely sharp differences of opinion and some "plain talk" regarding the foreign expansion policy of the administration, developed at the White House last night at the dinner given by President Harding to a group of prominent western and mid-western bankers, it was learned today.

PICNIC AT SANTA MONICA BEACH

Mrs. Mary H. Carpenter has invited eight children and their mothers to a little beach party today at Santa Monica, at which Miss Gladys Sharpe will also be a guest. The list of boys and girls includes Alice Carpenter, Beryl Goodale, Lucile Beach, Fredericka Browne, Arthur Barton, Harry Reed, Arthur and Ralph Timothy, and most of their mothers will also go.

NATURE LOVER PLANS AVIARY

One of the most distinctive homes in Glendale will be that owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lang, at 328 West Vine street. Mrs. Lang is a nature lover who plans an aviary to supplement the luxurious garden she has already succeeded in cultivating.

Temptingly cool and refreshing is the artistic rock fountain the Langs have built, on the lawn of their home, and stocked with a variety of water plants and fish. But this is just a beginning, says Mrs. Lang, who in planning an aviary is already considering types of birds of gay plumage and rich song she will select as its inhabitants.

W. M. Windham Throws Light on Lumber Industry

No. 1, 1 by 8, dry shiplap, $12.50.

2 by 6 and 2 by 8, one side surfaced, $14.50.

1 by 6, surfaced one side, $12.50.

No. 1 vertical grained flooring, $22.00.

California drop siding, $19.00.

4 by 6 inch ceiling, $18.

6-inch California bungalow siding, $25.

Spruce, such as had been delivered to him at $45 a thousand, $7.

Mr. Windham states that the prices f. o. b. cars are about $3 less per thousand, and freight to Los Angeles is in the neighbohood of $11.

He also states that the flooring quoted him in Seattle at $22, is being sold here in Southern California for $93, or about three times the original cost there plus the freight. The big concerns are making an even greater profit, he declares, because they own and cut their own lumber and ship it to Southern California in their own boats, thus cutting out all the middleman's profits. In the twenty years he was in Seattle and in which he saw prices of lumber go up and down, he never saw it lower than it is there today with one exception, and there is so little demand that the lumber companies are running only 35 per cent normal, yet in the face of this situation, down here where building is active, enormous prices are being charged.

In talking about it he waxed quite indignant, declaring that the grand jury which has been indicting cement manufacturers might well turn its attention to the lumber business.

Relative to the cost of labor, which is such an important element in building, Mr. Windham told of meeting in Seattle, two years ago, a bricklayer who had been in his employ when he commenced there twenty years before. He asked this mechanic what he was getting a day, and was told $12.50. "And how many bricks do you lay for that money?" he asked.

"Fifteen hundred," was the reply.

"Do you remember what you got years ago when you worked for me?" was his next question.

"Yes; $6.50."

"And how many bricks did you lay then?"

"Three thousand."

"That," said M. Windham, "is part of what is the matter with the building industry today. In Seattle plasterers are getting $9 a day against $12 in San Francisco and $15 in Los Angeles.

"In San Francisco I found a complete lockout. It had come to a point where the master builders felt compelled to make a cut of 7 1-2 per cent. After the mechanics had been out for about a month, they accepted the reduction in wages but would not go to work until the master builders signed up with the unions for a closed shop. I was told there is $10,000,000 back of the Master Builders' association to fight the closed shop. They have had enough of it in San Francisco. In my judgment it is a hard fight and means death to the unions if they give in and a hard blow to the contractor if he gives in."

Mr. Windham says he began in the building business when he was 17 years old, and knows it thoroughly.

A local builder consulted in regard to the matter said: "Yes, the lumber trust is a very powerful and tight concern, able to dictate the retail prices complained of. If it is discovered than an independent is buying lumber in the north, a complaint is registered with the railroad company, which is expected to protect the members of the trust as big shippers, and the independent finds his shipments delayed and interfered with in a variety of ways. If the small lumber dealer cuts the price he is put out of the association and boycotted. So thoroughly in the grip of the trust are the mills that it has not been possible up to now for a private individual to buy lumber in the north. Maybe conditions are changing in that regard. I hope so."

MANY DELEGATES ARRIVING TODAY

Glendale's fame having spread afar, many people from other parts of the state who are delegates to the Christian Endeavor convention are coming in a little ahead of time to get first-hand evidence of the beauty and advantages of the city.

A delegation arrived yesterday from Vallejo, and another from Pacific Grove, Monterey county, has wired that they will arrive some time today by automobile.

EFFORT TO CHANGE WALNUT TO ORANGE

South Glendale is trying to outdo Luther Burbank and have a walnut converted into an orange. Last night a petition from residents of Walnut street was presented to the city trustees asking to have the name of that thoroughfare changed to Orange in harmony with the cityy's action in changing the name of Blanche avenue to South Maryland.

Sierra Ave. Annexationists Urge Action by Trustees

be renamed Orange street, was referred to city engineer for checking and report.

Permits were granted to John W. Henderson and others to do street work subject to the approval of the street superintendent.

Rest Home

On a favorable report from the health officer relative to sanitary conditions at the establishment of Mrs. Villa Shaw, at 400 Palm Drive, there being no objections filed, a permit to maintain a rest home was granted.

Kennel Permit Denied

The application of W. H. Knott for a permit to establish a dog kennel at 500 East Colorado was denied as being in conflict with ordinance No. 172.

Appropriation for Elks Parade

Albert D. Pearce addressed to the board an appeal on behalf of the Elks' lodge for an appropriation from the advertising fund of the city to help defray the expense of a Glendale float in the parade at the Elks convention and a $500 appropriation was granted by unanimous vote.

Street Lights on Walnut

The report of the city manager relative to steps that are being taken to provide street lights on Walnut street in response to the petition of residents thereon, was received and ordered filed.

Vine Street Reservoir

In approval of the city manager's recommendations relative to providing a cover for the Vine street reservoir, Engineer Lynch was instructed to prepare plans and specifications therefor.

Additional Officers

The city manager's recommendations relative to the employment of additional traffic officers and other help during the Christian Endeavor convention was also approved and he was authorized to employ same.

His recommendation that the First National bank be granted a permit to construct a cesspool under the sidewalk at the west side of the building subject to the supervision of the street superintendent, was also approved and granted.

The application of officials of the Christian Endeavor convention for a permit to erect tents on vacant property opposite the tabernacle to be used for registration and other convention purposes, was granted.

Auto Camping Ground

The application of Earl Webb for a permit to establish auto camping ground at 920 East Palmer avenue was referred to the city manager with instructions to investigate the disposition of the residents of the neighborhood in regard to it. Mr. Webb who was present explained the real need he had discovered for such a camping place when he arrived a few months ago from Chicago and found it exceedingly difficult to find any quarters to rent.

Peddlers' Ordinance

An ordinance prepared by City Attorney Shaw prohibiting the standing of cars, wagons and other vehicles on the public streets of Glendale for vending purposes, was offered and laid over for one week.

Garfield Avenue Extension

The time for the filing of protests against the opening of the extension of Garfield avenue having expired, the protests received were referrerd to the city engineer for checking and report.

Garbage in Grand View

Under the call for new business Trustee Lapham asked what had been done in regard to garbage collection in the Grand View district and was told by City Manager Watson that about the first of the month Mr. Nelson would send a collection wagon out there.

Traffic Buttons

The need of buttons at certain dangerous corners was brought out by Trustee Lapham and others and the board voted to have such buttons placed on Broadway west of Central avenue and at Glendale and Acacia.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 24.—Major J. W. Muirhead, of the port commission has suggested to the federal engineering department that the 44 wooden hulls of the shipping board war merchant fleet moored here, be filled with cement and sunk as jettys or for breakwater needs. The hulls are interfering with traffic in Lake Union and there is an insistent demand for their immediate removal. Muirhead said: The government has been unable to sell the ships.

Glendale Ready for Christian Endeavor Host

Glendale's Greeting

Glendale will give formal greeting to the convention at the opening session tomorrow evening, when Dwight W. Stephenson, mayor of the city will make the address of welcome.

The Day's Program

The delegates who arrive in the morning will find their places of entertainment, rest and get acquainted with the city. In the afternoon there will be a prayer service for the success of the convention at 3:30, and at 4 o'clock the annual meeting of the state executive committee takes place at the Baptist church, participated in by all State Union officers, superintendents and county presidents. Visitors are welcome at this meeting.

The Evening Program

A song service at 7 o'clock, led by Otis Ironmonger, precedes the opening of the convention, James Garth and Keith Brooks acting as accompanists.

As stated above, Mayor Stephenson will give the address of welcome for the city. Rev. C. M. Crist, pastor of the First Methodist church, will welcome the guests on behalf of the churches; Harry C. Allan, field secretary of the State Christian Endeavor Union, will respond in the name of the visitors.

Appointments of committees, announcements, the offering, the presentation of flags, and similar routine business will follow.

The address of the evening will be given by Rev. Cortland Myers, pastor of Tremont Temple Baptist church, Boston; his subject is "Looking Unto Jesus for Inspiration."

The musical program will include an anthem by the choir, "The King of Glory", (Coleridge-Taylor), directed by Robert S. Maile, and a solo by Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts. Mmes. Spencer Robinson and William Crawford are the accomponists.

Rev. Lapsley A. McAfee, pastor of Berkeley Presbyterian church will speak the closing words of the evening.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR POOL BONDS

With the election but four days off, the committee in charge of the swimming pool bonds campaign is getting prepared for a final drive to urge citizens of Glendale to cast a favorable vote.

Possibly it is due to the untiring persuasive efforts of the campaign committee or maybe it is due to the scintillating debut of "old Sol," but to all events there appears to be a more general response in favor of the swimming pool than was displayed during the other campaigns.

Dr. P. O. Lucas, of 1243 South Brand boulevard, himself an ardent supporter of the swimming pool bonds, reports that in the southern section of the city the matter is looked upon with much favor. Pledge cards, to nearly the 800 mark have been turned in to J. A. Rhoades, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

If a cupboard door that is held shut by friction alone comes loose, stick a large thumbtack in the edge.

form. This contingent will be headed by the Glendale band of 43 pieces and the parade will be featured by a mounted contingent in uniform, that portion of the parade to be conducted by members of our organization who are resident and employed in Universal City. We have the assurance that Glendale will be advertised that day by a feature that ought to attract the attention of all visitors, for through the courtesy of the Universal Film company the largest elephant in its menagerie has been secured, and he will be decorated in the Elks' colors, carry a Glendale banner and also carry the officers of the Elks' lodge.

"During the whole week, Glendale will receive real advertising. We are willing to bear most of the burden because most of the pleasure will be ours, but at the same time we feel that this board could use funds to no greater advantage, from the standpoint of advertising the city, than to appropriate a portion for this purpose. We come as a committee from our lodge and request immediate action, if possible, because the time is short and we want to know what we can count upon from the city, if any thing."

The board appealed to Mr. Watson to know what monies were available for advertising purposes and on his statement that a balance of about $800 could be drawn upon, the vote was unanimous to make the appropriation of $500 asked for by the committee.

We back this assertion by the fact that six already built were sold before completion, and four more are contracted for to be built immediately. Mr. MacGregor, the head of and general manager of the MacGregor Realty Company, believes that worthy would-be citizens and others having but a few hundred dollars to invest as a down payment would welcome the opportunity to purchase this kind of a home. He backed his belief and judgment with his money. Result: Ten couples have been made happy, and twenty more contented, good citizens have been added to the CLEANEST, FASTEST-GROWING and BEST CITY ON EARTH.

Good Government League Pleads Guilty

Before the true object of the alleged "Good Government League was revealed an effort was made to have this organization endorse a certain excellent candidate in order that the People might be represented by a majority of the council. The officers of this so-called "Good Government" organization had publicly represented that no endorsements had been made. They now confess that "the League had already endorsed!" (See Good Government League ad in Thursday's Press).

By their own confessioin this League was formed in the secret interest of Stephenson and Lapham. We condemn such machinations.

We pointed out the Corporation affiliations of their leaders. They now confess their subservience to the "Corporations they so creditably serve." (See Good Government League ad in Thursday's Press).

Voters: Do you think the Southern California Gas Company, the Telephone Trust or the Railroads allow their employes to be thus active in local politics unless their activities are perfectly safe not to the people but to the "corporations they so creditably serve"?

Voters: Under Section 62-A of the Penal Code of California which is designed to discourage anonymous political circulars it has become customary for all such circulars to be signed by the officers of the organizations issuing them. Why doesn't the Good Government League thus publish the list of its officers?

Mr. Stephenson, in his published letter of June 22 significantly fails to mention that HE HIMSELF INTRODUCED THE GRAVEYARD EXTENSION ORDINANCE, against the passage of which it was necessary to present the irate protests of 766 of his constituents!

MR. STEPHENSON ADMITS, by his failure to deny, that he "continued to justify" this unjust ordinance. We can produce numerous affidavits to this effect if desired.

Mr. Stephenson brings the record into his CONFESSIONS and demonstrates that the sum total that the 766 protesting constituents accomplished was DELAY. Mr. Stephenson, why was this ordinance not put to a vote and unanimously defeated—and put definitely into the discard—by a showing of official hands, yours included?

Please note that Mr. Stephenson is significantly silent upon the subject of nepotism in our city government.

Respectfully submitted,

BETTER COUNCIL CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

Ship and sail under the Stars and Stripes to all parts of the world

THERE was a long period when it was not true, but today it is proudly true once more—trade and passenger routes are so established that you can ship your goods, or you can sail, to any part of the world under the Stars and Stripes.

The program of routes is being carried out with an eye to the future as well as present needs of American exporters and importers and all American prosperity. See that the ships you use are owned and operated by American citizens or by the U.S. Shipping Board.

STANDARD OIL NAME IS USED LEGALLY

(By International News Service)

EL DORADO, Ark., June 24.—Here is the story of how a prospecting oil driller "scooped" the world-famous John D. and is now riding to fame on the millions of an El Dorado "gusher." It is the story of a gamble, the first thought, quicker action and of life in the raw.

The scene is laid in this old cow-town on the edge of Louisiana and in the heart of the new "boom" field. The prospector is A. R. Aphel, who threatens to tie knots in the policies of the Standard Oil company in the southwestern field. He is president of the Standard Oil company of Arkansas, but he is not aligned with the Rockefeller interests.

Riding into El Dorado on the recent "boom," Aphel discovered that the Arkansas corporation laws offered no barrier to the use of the incorporated name of another company. So he organized the Standard Oil of Arkansas, much to the disgust of the "parent" concern.

El Dorado only a month before had been peacefully sleeping. Rumors were heard from time to time of oil fields just across the border in Louisiana. One day a "gusher" came in and within 24 hours the town was a hotbed of feverish prospectors. Oil men flocked there from all parts of the nation and some even came from foreign climes. Its population trebled over night.

"Some one is putting it over on the Standard Oil," was a report circulated one night. It was traced to Aphel and his little band of associates. Notice that the company was duly chartered appeared in a Little Rock newspaper. Then followed a perfect maelstrom of protest on the secretary of state's office.

The Standard Oil company of Louisiana stormed the secretary of state's office with telegraphic protests. They were told, however, they "had run into a stone wall." Aphel's company and its corporation were entirely legal. Aphel's little company with a $500,000 capital practically dominates the new field.

He is the first oil man to successfully "pass the buck" to the Rockefeller interests. His future is eagerly watched by oil men all over the country.

CLAIM FILED AGAINST ESTATE OF COL. ROOSEVELT

Strange Story of Alleged Loan of $69,900 Made to Him Nine Years Ago

HILLSDALE, Ind., June 24.—The strange story of an alleged loan of $69,900 made personally to the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt in 1912, when he was "bull moose" candidate for President and how interest was paid until 1917, was made known here today after Mrs. Emma Richardson Burkett, widow, had stated she had filed claim for that sum against the Roosevelt estate. She said the loan to Roosevelt was made in cash. June 21, 1912, and that the alleged note bearing Roosevelt's signature, together with that of one Charles J. Shunson as indorser now reposes in the keeping of the Chemical National bank, New York, which is acting as her representative.

Mrs. Burkett said the money represented an estate left by an uncle to administer for a wayward daughter, that she sought to invest and was induced to loan it to Colonel Roosevelt. She insists there is no possibility that the man she gave the money to was not Roosevelt, since she had known him as a politician many years.

Mrs. Burkett said the loan was arranged by James J. Payton, justice of the peace of Danville. Shunson, she says, acting as Roosevelt's agent, paid interest until 1917. Judge Peyton has since died. Mrs. Burkett says she can produce witnesses and affidavits to the payment of interest.

Verbalizing Nouns

E. B. Hughes in the Writer, gives the story of the city boy who wrote his brother on the farm as follows:

"Thursday we autoed out to the country club where we golfed until dark. Then we trolleyed back to town and danced till dawn. Then we motored to the beach and Fridayed there."

The brother on the farm promptly wrote back:

"Yesterday we buggied to town and baseballed all the afternoon. Then we went to Ned's and pokered out to the cornfield and gee-hawed until sundown. Then we suppered and then we piped for a while. After that we staircased up to our room and bedsteaded until the clock fived."

EX-CROWN PRINCE TURNS BLACKSMITH

(By International News Service)

WEERINGEN, June 23.—The former crown prince of Germany has taken to blacksmithing to while away the idle hours in bad weather, and it was in the blacksmith shop of his boon companion that I found him when I visited Weeringen.

He was standing before the anvil, his face illuminated by the glowing coals, sleeves rolled up, in sport knickerbockers, with heavy wool stockings. My visit did not seem to surprise him in the least.

"One minute," he said, "and I will be with you."

The iron was now red hot, and he brought down the hammer a few times; there was a shower of sparks, a hissing sound in the tub of water, and the job was done.

Frederick William rubbed his hands with a satisfied air, removed his oil-skin jacket and a cyclist's cap pulled down upon his hair, which still remains blond.

The blacksmith himself, greatly embarrassed, consulted with his wife over the best way to receive me and the photographer who accompanied me. But the ex-crown prince solved the difficulty himself, and five minutes later we were seated in the dining-room of Mr. Luijt, the blacksmith, around an imposing pitcher of beer.

"Mr. Hohenzollern" didn't change his attitude a bit when he learned that I was a Frenchman and that I was a newspaperman.

"So you are from Paris?" he said. "Well, give us the latest gossip of the French capital. Are the women still pretty and stylishly dressed? That's a nicely tailored suit you are wearing. What are the popular pieces playing in the Paris theaters today?"

Is Popular With Village

The ex-crown prince is in the very best of health and doesn't seem to suffer much from his exile. He complains about the high cost of living, like any other citizen, but seems to enjoy life in a simple little house, with a cook, a valet, one other domestic and a former Brandenburg gendarme. Though at Doorn the inhabitants are almost hostile to the ex-kaiser, the former crown prince enjoys such popularity here that the municipality would bestow high honors upon him if the Dutch government would permit it.

Besides Mr. Luijt, the blacksmith, Frederick William has no better friend than Mr. Admiraal, who is specially attached to his person by the Dutch government to guard him against annoyances. As proof of this friendship I may cite the fact that when the ex-crown prince wishes to give some small remembrance to a visitor to Weeringen he hands him a horseshoe, which he has made himself, and accompanying it is a letter, stating that he is actually the smithy who made the horseshoe, the letter being sealed with the seal of Mr. Admiraal.

Though he likes to give out the impression that the Hohenzollerns will never return to power, I believe that the former crown prince has not abandoned hope or ambition. He receives numerous visits at Weeringen from former officers, and during the last six months his mail has increased greatly. For instance, while, in 1920, he received hardly a hundred letters on his birthday this year the Weeringen postman brought him thousands of letters, with the well-wishes of German monarchists.

POLICE ON TRAIL OF ALLEGED SLAYER

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, JUNE 24.—Following the arrest here of Paul Koenig, 21; Dan Farrell, 18, and Robert Phillips, 23, police were checking today to learn if they have any connection with the gang of "Little Phil" Alquin, slayer of Detective Sergeant John J. Fitzgerald of Los Angeles.

At their rooms at 255 Dubose street, police found burglar tools and evidence which caused them to believe the three were members of an auto-stealing ring. Letters from a girl in Los Angeles to Farrel signed "Letty" made reference to the slaying of Fitzgerald and mentioned the arrest of "two pals." The letter urged Farrel to "go straight."

HISTORY WILL REPEAT ITSELF

The Motor Truck business will rival the pleasure car business. It is now just at its beginning. Past experience has proven that the Motor Truck business must be conducted as a separate and distinct institution from the automobile business.

Legions of new men will now make fortunes in the Motor Truck business, who get in on the ground floor, as average, successful Motor Truck salesmen make from $3500 to $5000 a year.

The Peerless Commercial Company with its principal offices in Los Angeles, are organizing an exclusive Motor Truck sales force for one of the best motor trucks known, and appointing a local representative in every community. No experience or capital, and only spare time, supplying information, and advising and assisting their experienced salesmen, is required of these local men. This offers an unusual opportunity for a local man to get started and eventually qualify to attain a position paying $75 to $100 per week, or more.

The transportation problem is today in a very unsatisfactory state: Motor trucks are the solution and are fast coming into general use. It is predicted that "history will repeat itself" and that the Motor Truck business will be the next big money making business of the country, as the automobile business has been during the past decade.

Anyone interested and desiring to get into the Motor Truck business in any capacity, should address for free and full information—

HONOR THE FLAG

The Glendale Daily Press struck a responsive chord in its offer of a beautiful bunting flag with each yearly subscription paid in advance. All we could procure at that time were speedily taken and many applied for the flags after the supply had been exhausted. To satisfy these demands we have ordered a new supply, and these will be given on the same terms as were the first. The Daily Press is not doing this as a money-making proposition, for the flags are quite costly and the paper is worth every cent asked for it, but we desire to do our bit toward stimulating patriotism and reverence for the flag. We hope to eventually see "Old Glory" displayed in every Glendale home, and we want to do our part toward bringing this about.

Fill out the coupon below and bring it or mail it to the office, accompanied with $5 for a year's advance subscription, and a flag will be laid away for you. If in arrears, pay to date and a year in advance to get the flag.

Do you realize the necessity for capacity for details in your City Clerk? Do you realize the importance attached to the recording of minutes, of real estate transfers, of births, of deaths; of the thousand and one IMPORTANT records to be made?

A slip—an error—an omission by the Clerk may mean money losses to the city or individual.

Therefore, select your candidate with care.

Knowing and realizing the above requirements, I submit my qualifications, which embrace: Capacity for and knowledge of detail work; a broad understanding of the city and its needs; ability to meet and serve the public promptly, courteously and efficiently. Raised and educated in Glendale, all my interests are here. My technical training and experience as instructor in the Van der Naillen School of Mines, coupled with experience gained as superintendent of mines, peculiarly fit me for City Clerk.

THE DEMAND FOR FEMALE LABOR

It is a curious thing that at present, when so many men are seeking work at almost any wage, the demand for female help should be so great. It is possible to hire young, inexperienced girls, say many employers, but it is hard to get efficient girls and women. One concern which employs from 40 to 50 young women is now operating with a shortage of at least a half dozen girls simply because competent help cannot be hired. The householder has perhaps noticed that she can hire a man to wash windows or beat rugs more cheaply than a woman. The wages paid women workers in the home have come down very little compared with the wages of unskilled male help. There are perhaps several reasons for this. In the first place those industries which shut down and let out employes for the most part employed men instead of women. The demand for female labor has not slackened in comparison with the demand for male labor. It is also true that during the war a great many jobs formerly filled by men were filled by women, and the women still hold the jobs. In many homes where the husband is out of work it is fortunate that wages for women have not declined.

CUBA'S EXAMPLE

Confronted by a severe unemployment problem, further aggravated by the ending of the sugar season, the Cuban government has decided upon an extensive program of road building. It proposes to ribbon the island with hard-surfaced roads and, as an earnest of its intentions, has made an offer to General Goethals to take charge of the work.

A better choice could hardly have been made. To command such services a handsome salary will have to be paid, but in a job of such magnitude the salary of Goethals, whatever it is, will be an economy. The most extravagant one thing Cuba could do in this project would be to place an inferior man at the head of it.

We are not accustomed up here to look to tropical America for instruction in industrial affairs. In matters of business generally we rather plume ourselves on our superiority and not entirely without reason. Nevertheless, Cuba's example in getting the best man obtainable to direct its road building can be followed to advantage by "the States," including Missouri.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

"Well," answered his friend casually, "let's go out this afternoon and play $10,000 or $15,000 worth of golf."

AUTHOR PURCHASES MOUNTAIN TOWN

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 24.—Major Charles Sydney Goldham, author, capitalist and former member of the British parliament, has purchased the whole town of Nicola, a beauty spot in the mountains of British Columbia. He is now living in the court house, awaiting a gang of workmen to commence putting the place in condition to care for tourists.

In all 20,000 acres have been secured by the major, who plans to make a summer resort, stocking the lakes in the neighborhood with game fish.

POPULAR SCIENCE

A new mineral of the New South Wales coal fields mentioned by a correspondent of the Chemical Trade Journal, under the names of fibro-ferrite and mullide has been both arousing great expectations and by spontaneous combustion causing much trouble in the mines. Great quantities are said to exist, estimates of its value differing widely. Chemical investigation seems to suggest that it may yield a valuable supply of dyes and other products now imported and one mine manager considers it even more valuable than coal.

REMARRIAGE PROMISE ENDS IN DAMAGE SUIT

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 24.—Here it is. A breach of promise suit for failure—not to marry—but to remarry.

Mary L. Taylor has sued Charles J. Taylor for $25,000 damages alleging he failed to make good a promise to remarry her after they were once divorced. She charged Taylor had tired of living alone, wooed her a second time and won her promise to wed for the second time.

She also asked accounting of her husband's $50,000 estate, which, she said, she had largely accrued through her literary efforts.

The new wood-metal sheet or paneling, consisting of thin boards between two layers of metal, has given astonishing results. This material, adapted for a multitude of uses, can be made in sections of any size, is unaffected by moisture, resists abrasion and warping, and combines strength with lightness. In tests made, a panel five-sixteenths of an inch thick proved five times as strong as a solid wood panel of equal thickness, and 80 times as strong as a sheet steel panel of equal weight.

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

OF INTEREST TO MUSICIANS

Orchestra May Disband

The affairs of the Minneapolis symphony orchestral association are said to be in an uncertain state. According to Musical America, it is claimed that the guarantors, during the 18 years' life of the orchestra, have made up a total deficiency of approximately $1,000,000 over and above the box-office receipts. For this reason it is held that they constitute the proper determining court. Upon their action rests the continued existence of the orchestra.

The board of park commissioners, in anticipation of a withdrawal of the orchestra, has authorized the committee on privileges and entertainment, to make other contracts which will insure music in the Minneapolis parks as soon as a decision in the long-drawn out controversy may be arrived at. It is claimed that the present bone of contention lies in the park board matter, the union holding that the orchestra (a union body), may not be engaged for the Lake Harriet pavilion while Barrett's band (non-union) is engaged by the same agency for another park in the city.

For Support of MacDowell Colony

In aid of the drive for a $200,000 permanent endowment fund for the MacDowell memorial colony at Peterborough, N. H., a meeting was held at the MacDowell club, New York, May 24.

Herman Hagedorn, president of the allied members of the colony, made a plea for support. Although much had been done for those lagging behind the rest of mankind, said Mr. Hagedorn, little was being done for the vanguard, the leaders. And because of the aid it gave to the creative spirit, he urged the cause of the colony.

Hamlin Garland, the author, was the chief speaker of the evening. Mr. Garland, who was long a friend of MacDowell, told some stories of the composer, and spoke of his vision of a colony where artists might find the conditions conducive to creative work. He told of MacDowell's brilliance, his wit, and how his last thought was for this little retreat where the five arts might live and work together.

General Music Notes

Arvid Samuelson, pianist, formerly of Lincoln, was among the musicians who appeared on the opening program of the twelfth biennial convention of the national federation of music clubs, at the Tri Cities-Rock Island and Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Ia., in session June 6 to 14. The general headquarters of the convention were at Augustana college, Rock Island, where Mr. Samuelson is head of the piano department.

Mary Garden was on the ocean last week, crossing to Europe in search of more artists to appear in Chicago next season. She was accompanied by the business manager of the association, George M. Spangler, and wife.

The music journals state that Chas. Hackett will not be a member of the Metropolitan company next season. It is understood that he will sing at La Scala, in Milan.

A suit instituted fifteen years ago against the Oliker Diston company by the widow of Joseph P. Webster, composer of the popular hymn, "In the Sweet By and By," was settled in the federal court on May 26 by Mr. Webster's heirs, for $56,000. The suit was brought by Mrs. Webster to obtain an accounting from the local publishers, who had taken over the rights of a Chicago house with whom Webster had a contract. Mrs. Webster and many of the twenty attorneys who have at one time or another been conected with the case, have died since the suit was instituted in 1906.

Kansas City has formed an association with thirty directors to begin work towards securing a symphony orchestra for the city and the building of a music hall. It is the intention to found a great touring orchestra. A foundation guarantee of $100,000 for three years will be asked. It is the intention to have the orchestra for the season of 1922-23.

STUDIO NEWS AND GOSSIP

MASSIVE SET MADE FOR FILM PRODUCTION

A magnificent and mammoth set is used in one of the scenes of "What's Your Reputation Worth?" a Corinne Griffith production. Over 150 extra players were engaged for a full day in making the scene which represents a cabaret. Two ballet danseuses from the Metropolitan Opera company gave solo dances in the scene which represents a cabaret in full swing. The set required several weeks of preparation. The walls were all hand painted, and represented Saracenic art. This is but one of several mammoth sets used in this production and furnishes Miss Griffith an opportunity to wear one of a score of beautiful gowns she had designed especially for the production.

Alice Duer Miller is writing a story for Tom Moore, Goldwyn star, entitled "His Two Mothers."

Charles Meredith will be Katherine MacDonald's leading man in her forthcoming picture, "Peachie."

Herbert Rawlinson, now playing opposite Priscilla Dean ni "Conflict," has been signed to star under the Universal banner as soon as he finishes his work in the Dean feature.

SOCIETY THRONG IN FILM

NEW WILLIAM RUSSELL PICTURE IS "BEST YET"

Heralded as the best feature in which William Russell has starred, is "The Man Who Dared," a new William Fox production with the story laid in the California Redwoods.

William Russell has the role of Big Jim O'Kane, boss of a lumber-jack camp. The story, which is by Julius G. Furthman, tells what happened to Big Jim and the girl he loved when he "got in wrong" with the sheriff. For the sheriff happened to be in love with the girl, too, and he was not exactly all that a sheriff should be.

The film is said to be notable for the beauty of its setting. Trees grow 200 feet high in the Redwoods, and to walk the forest paths is like walking in the naves of great cathedrals. Clyde de Vinna is responsible for the photography. Supporting Mr. Russell are Eileen Percy, a very attractive actress who has since become a Fox star; Frank Brownlee and Lon Poff. Emmett J. Flynn directed the picture.

Clyde Fillmore, who had an important role in Eric Van Stroheim's "The Devil's Passkey," will play opposite Marie Prevost in her first Universal starring picture.

Juanita Hansen, who has been ill for several months, is again ready for the trials and tribulations of a serial queen.

A Practical Revival

A week or so ago, in an impromptu address to a group of naval officers, President Harding made effective use of the expression, "By the eternal!" Andrew Jackson has been dead a long time, so there could be no objection to his using it. Because Jackson once said, "By the eternal! The union must and shall be preserved," people had given Old Hickory a sort of copyright to the phrase, but there really is no reason why other folks shouldn't employ it if it seems fit. Jackson lived in the thirties, and the copyright long since expired. There are other well-known bits of histroic oratory which might likewise serve anew, and to good purpose.

We append some:

"I care not what others may think, but for me, give me normalcy or give me death!"

"Sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish, I give my hand and my heart to this bill in aid of the American dye industry!"

"When mine eyes turn to behold for the last time the sun in heaven, may they see it shining upon a land where beer may be prescribed as a medicine."

"——score and——years ago, our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that there should be a protective tariff on California lemons."—Arthur H. Folwell in Leslie's.

Bungalow Prices Dropping

CHICAGO, June 24.—Building costs on small homes have decreased 20 per cent in the last year, according to Barton O'Toole, of the Chicago real estate board and head of "Own Your Home" movement.

O'Toole also declared that present costs were still 50 per cent higher than those existing four years ago. He predicted an end to the building tie-up and brighter prospects for people desiring to build their own homes.

"A brick bungalow which cost $3450 four years ago could be erected a year ago for $6500. Now it can be built for $5250. These comparative costs hold good for other lines of building efforts," he said.

Major Goldham has written a number of books dealing principally with the South African war.

Thousands of Men Start Work of Harvesting

(By International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 24.—The world's bread-basket is about to be refilled—and filled to overflowing. Today, harvesters are at work in the great wheat fields of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri, and the cutting of the ripening grain has begun. Harvesting machinery is the broad expanses of the Southwest is beginning to hum the first notes of a swelling symphony of "Back to Normalcy."

Unemployment problems in this region bid fair to be solved by the harvesting of the wheat crop, which is just getting under way. Binders and headers have entered "early" fields in all four states. Already the harvesting is under way in the wheat belt of the Southwest as far north as Abilene, Kansas, and Sedalia, Missouri. Throughout the central and northern sections of Texas the click of the harvesters and the machine gun crackle of the tractor engines are singing the song of golden grain.

Within a few weeks hundreds of thousands of men will be engaged in garnering the west's 56,744,000-acre wheat harvest. After threshing and milling, this acreage will yield 36,461,600,000 pounds of flour. And, baked into bread of the old-fashioned but recently revived kind, this gigantic flour bin will make 41,753,800,000 loaves of the staff of life.

Wheat growers are happy at this harvest time. For the first time in years the "harvest hand" problem, except in certain small localities, does not exist. Into the southern belts thousands of unemployed have found jobs in the wheat fields. Thousands of others are arriving and are being put to work. Through Texas and Oklahoma they will follow the "tracks of the bull wheels," gradually working to the northern fields, and each state, as its crop ripens, will, it is believed, have plenty of help to harvest the crop.

In Kansas, which probably employs more wheat-field workers than any other state, the call for midsummer hired help is just about to be sounded. Labor agencies believe that there will be no shortage of help. War-time wages have disappeared, too, and the harvest hands will work for lower wages than during the last few years. Prices paid for help vary, but in many sections $3 per day and board is the prevailing scale, although, in many sections lower wages are paid—and accepted.

The heavy rains of early June did no damage to the wheat. The moisture delayed the harvest a little, but the rains served to fill out the grain and improve the crop. And the householder may rest assured that it is a bumper crop—there will be no shortage of wheat with this crop safely stored in the country's granaries.

(©, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

"I've fully made up my mind, Emily, to go to work. With Jack's consent! No! Certainly not! But what does that matter? He can give no good sensible reason, to my way of thinking, why I shouldn't stay at home. Says Paul needs a mother's care. Just imagine!—a boy over ten years old tied to his mother's apron strings!

"Oh, yes. I knew you're terribly shocked, and all that sort of thing; so is Jack, for that matter; but I'm going to work Monday morning, in spite of every obstacle, and the old house and—and everything else can take care of themselves. Let the neighbors talk if they want to; besides, when they're talking about me they're giving someone else a rest."

Emily burst into a gale of laughter at the picture before her, but her mood changed suddenly as she returned thoughtfully:

"My dear, I know just how you feel. I was once in exactly the same position as you are. I wanted good times and fine clothes above everything else in the world—or at least I thought I did, until experience taught me better. Would you care to have me tell you about it?"

"Hear! Hear!" exclaimed Beatrice enthusiastically to an imaginary audience. "Fellow citizens, the little gray mouse has finally consented to disclose the horrors of the business world. Lead on, fair one; convert me, if you can."

Emily smiled understandingly at her romantic little friend and replied:

"You're bound I shall tell you a thrilling story of adventure and hardship, aren't you, Beatrice? You will be disappointed, I know, for this is just a drab little tale."

She patted the flaxen curls of her younger daughter, Laura, while she watched with keen interest her boisterous, affectionate little tomboy, Louise, as she raced through the yard laughing joyously.

"A mother's place, my friend, is with her children, first, last and always. No one else can take her place. No one else can possibly know just what their little hearts require. Why, then, should she sometimes prize so little the treasures that God has given into her care?

"It was a great day for me, Beatrice, when I brought home my very first pay envelope. I had visions of all the beautiful clothes I would buy and of the happiness I could bring to others. I was elated to think that I was no longer dependent upon my husband for ready cash. They have a way, you know, of feeling their own importance, bless 'em, and are apt to strut around as though they were lords of all they surveyed. But why should we worry ourselves about such trifles? Let them go on thinking so if it makes them happy and keeps them peaceful. We know in our hearts that they are just big, grown-up boys."

"Yes, just boys, but such kind, devoted, big-hearted boys," added Beatrice quietly.

"You're right, my dear," returned her friend, "and we women can often influence them for good or evil, according to our own standards of living and outlook upon life. But I am drifting away from my story. Where was I? Oh, yes. I could spend hours telling you of my thrilling and tragic experiences as a special saleswoman in an exclusive department store in the heart of the city, but I will not weary you. Suffice to say that when I returned home at night I was too exhausted to enjoy my blessed youngsters and too nervous and irritable to treat my husband decently.

"We missed the companionship which we once enjoyed, but we did not realize the reason for its absence. Then suddenly I became ill. You know, my dear. God is sometimes obliged to put us on our backs in order to make us look upward. I looked—and I beheld the handwriting on the wall: 'Whosoever shall offend the least of these, My little ones—' Just that and—it was enough.

"The answer to my unspoken question flashed across my mind as though sent from heaven. There was no longer any doubt in my mind as to the meaning of those words. I had presumed to choose my own path, regardless of a nobler work that the Great Mind had planned for me. I was too engrossed in my own affairs to guide aright the uncertain footsteps of my little ones, and too wrapped up in trivial matters to realize that their impulsive, lonely little hearts had constant need of a mother's love. It was all too true that I had offended 'the least of these,' His little ones, by thoughtless neglect, and I felt condemned. Do you wonder now, my dear, why I turned over a new leaf?"

When the simple story came to an end there were tears in Beatrice's beautiful eyes, but she hastily wiped them away and spoke quietly, brokenly: "Emily, you're a wonder, but I think no one realizes it better than I. It's home, sweet home, for me now, and you may rest assured that I shall forget my silly notions. Fine clothes and good times can wait. I am fully convinced that Jack and Paul are all that I can handle—successfully." Then, with profound disgust, she added: "I have certainly been one empty-headed, worthless butterfly."

"Oh, no, not either of those, my dear," replied Emily, kindly, "but just as we are all bound to be sooner or later—a little thoughtless."

One way to get that bloom in the cheeks is to use a broom on the floor.

A good wife is one who doesn't say: "I told you so," when her husband catches cold after changing to summer ones.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

President Hayes took office at the close of a threatened political revolution.

Every Democratic president has lived to complete the full term for which he was elected.

Jefferson, "the Sage of Monticello" was the first president to be inaugurated in Washington.

The first real inaugural procession was in connection with the inauguration of President Madison.

The first woman who heard her son deliver a presidential inaugural was the mother of James A. Garfield.

Mrs. Taft was the first wife of an incoming president to accompany her husband in the inaugural procession.

President Jackson rode to his inauguration in a carriage constructed from a part of the hull of the frigate Constitution.

President Monroe was the first to be inaugurated in the open air, taking the oath on a stand in the east front of the capitol.

On the day of the inauguration of President Taft the national capital was visited by one of the worst blizzards in its history.

The first inauguration in which citizen soldiery from the various states participated was that of President William Henry Harrison.

President Benjamin Harrison was escorted at his inauguration by the survivors of the Seventieth Indiana Volunteer Infantry, which he had commanded in the Civil War.

When Garfield entered the Senate chamber on the day of his inauguration, just prior to taking the oath of office, the first man to greet him was General Hancock, the Democratic candidate, whom he defeated for the presidency.

An event that probably will never be repeated in American history occured March 4, 1825, when John Quincy Adams took the oath of office as President in the presence of his father, John Adams, the venerable ex-President of the United States.

Wall St. Explosion Adds Interest

"The Plunger," a William Fox picture starring George Walsh, which tells an exciting story of Wall street, assumes a multiplied interest because of the recent explosion in Wall street which damaged the famous business home of J .P. Morgan & Co., the United States sub-treasury and other buildings in the heart of New York's financial district, besides causing a heavy loss of life.

The picture contains excellent views of the entire district affected by the blast. A remarkable view of the Stock Exchange building was obtained from the roof of the Morgan building. In this shot the camera sweeps up from street to roof.

It was reported that the Walsh company had quitted the neighborhood, after completing the necessary shots, only a short time before the explosion occurred. An exciting story for which the Wall Street atmosphere was used as a basis, is said to have given Walsh full scope for his dynamic energy.

Better Council

Editor Glendale Press: "Specifically stating their views on the observance of Sunday in Glendale, the Better Council campaign committee, its executive committee of 100, and the five candidates of the organization, today issued an explicit exposition of the purpose of their campaign.

"Their candidates, W. E. Anderson, S. A. Davis, C. E. Kimlin, William C. Mabry and Spencer Robinson, are pledged, according to President A. A. McDonald, to this stand, expressed as follows:

"'We oppose all other candidates because they have avoided any public pronouncement against "blue laws" and Sunday closing. There are some who have declared for submitting the matter to a special election. Such a course is not in the interest of economy and would be wasteful of the city's funds. The issue is now clearly drawn and can be settled by the vote next Tuesday.

"'The members of the Better Council campaign committee believe in decency, quiet, law and order. We do not believe in the disturbance of Sunday worship. We believe in pursuing the peaceful, cordial attitude heretofore evidenced by one religion toward another in this city. But we also believe in the constitutional right of religious freedom and the only way in which we can be protected is by eternal vigilance against fanatical and oppressive Sunday legislation. We are confident that this represents the view of the great majority of church members and we earnestly invite their hearty cooperation.'

"Other planks in the Better Council platform to which the candidates are pledged, are made public as follows:

"'Efficiency in administration. Nepotism has insinuated itself into various departments of our city government. This does not make for efficiency.

"'Progressive improvements. Until the close of the readjustment period, essential and substantial improvements should be made, but all luxuries should be postponed.

"'A clean city. High moral, ethical standards should prevail. Our city is a city of homes and our children must be protected.

"'Religious freedom. Blue laws and Sunday closing interfere with religious liberty, the most sacred right of the American people. The candidates of the Better Council campaign committee will strictly enforce law and order and the highest standards of purity and decency will be carefully safeguarded.

"'Representative government. It will be noted that no two of the Better Council campaign committee candidates live in the same district of the city and that they are widely representative.

"'A square deal to all. The names of the men endorsed by the Better Council campaign committee are a sufficient guarantee of their honesty and fairness.'

"Among those subscribing to these sentiments are the following well-known Glendale citizens:

"A. A. McDonald, Mrs. S. C. Lepplemah, Col. Jas. W. Ervington, Mrs. Kemper Campbell, Emma V. Bacon, Stuart M. Street, Kemper Campbell, J. A. Starr, Irving Fisher, Mrs. G. W. Reaser, Dr. C. A. Denies Charges

Editor Glendale Press: In the columns of your paper issued Tuesday the 21st appeared a letter from Dr. Harrower in which he mentioned my name in connection with two incidents which he claims I had to do with, formulating plans to bring so-called "blue laws" to Glendale.

One was that I had asked my name to be removed from a certain candidate's petition (meaning Mr. Kimlin), after learning his views concerning Sunday closing, and the other that a committee consisting of Mr. Edmonds and others had held a meeting in my office for the purpose of laying plans to bring religious legislation into the present campaign. I had a personal interview with Dr. Harrower in my office on Wednesday, at which time I convinced him beyond a shadow of a doubt that both of these statements were false and misrepresented, and he gave me his word as a gentleman that he would publish a correction. What was my astonishment in reading your paper last night to find that instead of correcting his falsehoods he had published another letter, using a statement I had made in conversation with him to the effect that I was sorry that when certain religious questions were an issue that himself and those associated with him would join hands with thugs and saloon keepers. This statement was made while discussing the issues of state and nation, and knowing full well the use that could be made of such a statement in local politics I made it plain and the doctor understood that it did not apply to the parties interested with him in the present campaign. I certainly did not mean to infer in the least degree that these gentlemen were thugs and saloon keepers.

I claim the privilege which I believe to be mine of asking Dr. Harrower to retract these misrepresentations as publicly as he made them.

Yours for clean politics in Glendale.

Race Bookies Outwit The French Republic

Pari-Mutuel Booth System Operates Uneasily in Competition With Bookmakers, Causing Government to Lose Considerable Revenue Due It by Virtue of 1905 Tax of 11 Per Cent on Winnings

(By International News Service)

PARIS, June 24.—June and July, thanks to horse racing and the big races run in these months are fruitful periods for the French government's coffers, for it is during this period that the largest sums of the year are played on horses. The state draws 11 per cent of the money played in the pari-mutuel booths or the official betting stalls established on all tracks. It is estimated than on ordinary week days as much as three million francs is played at the races.

On days when there are important races to be decided this amount runs very much bigger, as for instance on Grand Prix day when some 400,000 people gather at Longchamps to watch the biggest race in France. Last year 14,000,000 francs were played on this race alone and the day's takings amounted to more than 20,000,000 francs.

But apart from these official booths there are secret means of playing races without going on the tracks. Such bets are taken by so-called bookmakers all over France and in some towns such as Paris, Lyons, Bordeaux and Marseilles, the money played in this clandestine way is said to greatly excel the money played on the tracks. Naturally the government cannot collect 11 per cent on these bets. Numerous attempts have been made to run these "bookies" to earth, but with little success for the simple reason that in most cases bets are made on a mutual understanding of confidence between the player and the "bookie." No trace of bets are to be found except those made in the smaller and popular bars of the capital, where slips are exchanged.

Government Has First Lien

Bookmaking was abolished in France in 1905 in favor of the official pari-mutuel booths. With these booths no odds are given out on horses prior to the race and the returns are only known after the race and after the deduction of the state's 11 per cent. The horse who carries the most money in bets pays out the least if he wins. The bar type of "bookie" pays out the same sums as the official returns, whereas the old type "bookie" who still operates on the tracks despite police supervision continues to give odds before the race.

The latter will only deal with persons known to him. He will often give odds of three-to-one against a horse whereas the pari-mutuel returns will show odds of three-to-one on the same horse.

The bar "bookie" will sometimes take in large shops and offices as well as bars and if he has a prosperous quarter to work in he usually has a large staff of bookkeepers who, at night when the results are known, check up his slips. He will start in the morning at about 8 and go around to factories or shops and there take the bets of the employes and sometimes the employers as well. Then he will drift into hairdressers' shops and collect slips and money from them. From there he will visit all "his" cafes and bars and collect more slips and money. He will take any amount from one franc 25 centimes (25 cents normally) to two or three thousand francs.

Bookies Usually Profit

At the pari-mutuel booth there is no maximum limit to betting, but nothing less than five francs can be played. The bookie generally refuses to take any tips after 1:30—racing begins at 2—and in the case of outsiders winning he will not pay out more than 150 francs for every 5 invested. Sometimes he will go to the races and by playing himself try to protect his own money, but in most cases bookies are usually satisfied to wait till the night to see how they have come out. It is rare that they lose and they more often finish the day with a net gain of eight to ten thousand francs than otherwise.

Such clandestine bets have so much worried the government that special laws were passed to deal with both bookies and players, but they have yielded little results and the authorities now are contemplating the opening of official pari-mutuel booths in all large cities where one might play fancied horses and where the government could collect its share of 11 per cent.

How much life is shaped and colored by what is eaten has been given little consideration. It has occurred to a Philadelphia doctor to investigate the influence of human ways of feeding on the disposition of monkeys, and his laboratory diet tests are reported to have given remarkable results. A protein diet heavy with meat and beans, was fed to the monkeys during the first week. Good Health notes that the animals became perceptibly dull and dispirited within three days; in another two days they slumped down, held their heads in their paws and took no interest in anything; and the end of the week found the cage filled with melancholy pessimists. They took no exercise, regarding the world with sad and dreary eyes. Then for a week the diet was changed to vegetables, cereals and fruit, and in three days the monkeys had brightened up, in five they were frisking about in their old happy fashion, and at the end of the week they were a band of optimists. A vegetarian's conclusion is that the heavy protein diet tends to make human beings pessimistic, forming a handicap, even though counteracting influences enable the man to remain an optimist.

If you put off until tomorrow the things you shoul ddo today, occasionally somebody will come along and do them for you.

Dress of Rope Pearls Worn By Star

Corinne Griffith wears a gown made entirely of ropes of pearls in "What's Your Reputation Worth?" She is noted for the extraordinary and bizarre gowns she wears in her pictures, and the pearl dress is one of the most unusual and beautiful. It is worn in a scene that represents a dream fantasy of the star and gives the scene a strange and dreamlike appearance.

Percy Marmont, a favorite of the screen, who has appeared in many of Vitagraph's successes, and who played opposite Corinne Griffith in "The Climbers," is again seen as the leading man. Other members of the cast who have important roles are Leslie Royceroft, George Howard, Charles Cook and Jane Jennings.

NOTES OF SEVENTH DAY ADVENTISTS

Elder A. G. Daniels, who presides over the general conference, which embraces the world, was in Glendale last Saturday and spoke in the Seventh Day Adventist church. He was here but a few days and is now in the state of Washington attending camp meetings there.

Elder W. F. Martin is in the central states attending camp meetings in Colorado and Wyoming. He left here last week.

Elder J. W. Christian and family have motored to Reno to attend the camp meeting at which F. E. Painter and J. A. Stevens will be present.

W. C. Raley has gone to St. Helena to audit the books of the Pacific Union college for the fiscal year.

YOUTH CALLS TO DICE, GOES FREE

(By International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., June 24.—Glen Lorett and Martin Francis crooned softly to the little square spot-covered objects as they rolled them skillfully up against a building. So interested were they that they failed to notice the soft-footed approach of Patrolman Babcock, who had heard those hushed but tense sounds before. "Come on, you little Joe," softly but earnestly pleaded one of the boys.

"Yeah, come on with me," came a voice from behind and Babcock collared the youthful cube worshippers and led them to the police station.

"Now boys, you're going to make your point before I do or you're going to jail," the policeman said. "These reporters here will referee the game. I'll roll each of you in turn. If you beat me you can go home, but I'll keep the dice and never let me catch you with any more in your pockets."

Lorett took the bones and rolled an eight. "Eighter from Decatur, take me home and keep me out of jaill," he wailed. Ten times he prayerfully cast the dice. On the eleventh throw an eight loomed up and he was free.

Francis was luckier, for he knew how to talk to 'em better. On the first throw he rolled a seven.

"Good ol' naturall," he thankfully commented, as he hastened out of the door. "I don't mind shootin' for a nickel, but a night in jail is too much on one throw. No more craps for me."

GERMAN BURGLAR IMITATES HOUDINI

(By International News Service)

BERLIN, June 24.—"Spectacular methods for burglary are all right for the movies, but after this I am going to stick to the safe and sane old-fashioned second-story man rules," sighed Max Arndt, after his attempt to rob an express car by an amateur Houdini trunk act landed him in jail.

Max and Paul Arndt, Burglars, Ltd., conceived the ieda of Max permitting himself to be locked into a good-sized wardrobe trunk, accompanied by a full set of burglar's tools. Brother Paul then shipped Max from the Berlin railroad station to Spandau. It was agreed that during the trip Max was to open the trunk, step out and rob the other trunks in the express car.

It might have worked smoothly, but the Arndt brothers forgot to take the precaution to bore a couple of holes in the trunk for air. Before Max could liberate himself he had exhausted the air in the trunk and fainted. Railroad officials became suspicious because of the weight of the baggage and forced it open. When Max had been resuscitated he stepped out smilingly and bowed, with the announcement that he was a vaudeville artist trying out a new Houdini trick.

He might have gotten away with the sleight-of-hand alibi, but his black magic didn't include a chapter on hiding burglars' kits up his sleeve. He was told to tell it to the judge. Max did. So did Paul. The judge told them that they might continue their legerdemain, with a year's course in the penitentiary.

New United States-Irish Line

(By International News Service)

BOSTON, June 24.—Direct steamship service between this port and ports in Ireland will soon be in operation, according to local officials of the Moore & McCormack company of New York. The route will be inaugurated by the steamship Eastern Belle, which will stop here June 26 and proceed to Cork, Dublin, Belfast, Sligo, Londonderry and Limerick.

Uncle Walt's Story

LOVED AND LOST

"THE newspaper tells of a young man who committed suicide because he was rejected by the girl he loved," observed the professor. "He must have been a poor-spirited creature. There is much truth in the old saying that it's better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

"I never could see much truth in it," replied the low-browed man. "Most of the old sayings are gold bricks. They seem to be 99 per cent wisdom until you sit down and take them apart and examine the pieces, and then you wonder that they fooled you so long.

"I've only been in love once. I've imagined myself in love a good many times, but the great sizzling passion of my life had possession of me about ten years ago. I was so far gone that I wrote poetry, and when a man does that you may know he's no longer responsible for his actions.

"The girl's name was Isabella Butterworth, and to say she was a peacherino is not doing her justice. She was an apprentice in a millinery joint, and only earned two bones a week, so you can see I loved her for herself alone. If she hadn't been drawing more than one plunk a week it would have been just the same. There's nothing unselfish about me where my affections are concerned.

"Tom Singletree was my rival. He was a worthless, loathsome individual, who had a squeaky tenor voice and played the mandolin. He belonged to the glee club and sang in the choir, and a man who sings in public always has a strong pull with the girls. Isabella wavered for a while. She realized that I was one of nature's noblemen, but I couldn't sing any more than a bullfrog with a sore throat. She was passionately fond of music, and the sight of Tom standing up before a cultured and refined audience, all shirt-front and white teeth, was more than she could resist. So finally she told me the best she could do under the circumstances was to be a sister to me, and she and Tom were married.

"I can't tell you how tough I felt, professor. It seemed to me that the bottom had fallen out of everything. If the marriage had been a failure my broken heart might have healed in time, for there's nothing more encouraging to a rejected suitor than to see the girl strike hard sledding after the ceremony. Then he knows she is regretting the choice she made.

"But everything prospered with Isabella. She had a great business head on her. She bought out the millinery store and built it up until it employed fifteen or twenty women, and then she added dry goods, and inside of a few years she had the biggest establishment in town. I never heard of such a soft snap as Tom's. His wife makes all kinds of money, and all he has to do is to wear purple and fine linen and sit around looking beautiful. He hasn't done a lick of work since he was married, and his wife considers it a pleasure to make money for him to blow, and she looks upon him as the most interesting event that ever occurred.

"No man with flesh and blood in his veins can look unmoved upon such a spectacle. Often when I am carrying milk to my customers I see Tom bowling along the boulevard in his motor-car, and he looks at me in a tone of voice that makes me yearn to battle, murder and sudden death. Some day I'll meet that man where the police can't interfere, and then I'll manicure his head until he admits that he is a complete mistake.

"If I had never loved Isabella I wouldn't care anything about this business. But when I reflect that I might be in his place if I had been able to sing 'The Lost Chord' in a high, squealing voice, my burden seems greater than I can bear, and I can hardly wait for the time when I'll have a chance to even things up with Tom."

Where the Peach Stones Were.

A 500-ton mountain of peach stones was recently thrown upon the New York local fuel market as a substitute for coal. The stones were gathered by patriotic Americans in war time to be used in the manufacture of gas masks. They found a ready market at $1 a ton and were distributed to the needy.—Dearborn Independent.

The Art of Panhandling.

"Move on, you bum," said the large policeman."

"I ain't no bum," answered the tattered stranger, indignantly.

"What are you, then?"

"I'm a prospector."

"Umph! What do you prospect for?"

"The milk of human kindness."

Hardly Consoling.

"The idea of applying for that position haunts me."

GREATEST MOTION PICTURE

Urging every member of his congregation to see "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," and classing this super-spectacle as the greatest in motion pictures of all times, Rev. William MacCormack, Dean of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral in Los Angeles, gave the picture his endorsement during its engagement at one of the larger Los Angeles theatres recently.

"I am talking to you today about "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," because it is a message for everyone of you, said Dean MacCormick when he talked to his congregation about Metro's million-dollar picturization of the novel by Vicente Blasco Ibanez. "It is a production that has something to say to you, and something for me.

"Those who have read Blasco Ibanez's novel or those who have seen the picture, know that Julio Desnoyers was a blackguard. Marguerite Laurier's trend was in the same direction, but she lacked the nerve to carry out her plans.

"Then comes the great white purifying flame of a crucial moment, and lifts them out of themselves, and prompts them to make the greatest sacrifice of their lives. The transformation is inspiring—glorious. You can see there, as in no other piece of literature, the proof that in everyone of us there is a divine spark which, if fanned into flame, will carry us to the very heights of self-sacrifice.

"I want every man and woman in my congregation to see this picture."

"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" will be shown at the Palace Grand theatre here Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The magnitude of the production makes necessary a revision of admission prices to a slight increase, Manager Jensen states, while two shows only will be the rule of each day during this special engagement.

Glendale Theatre

Unusual lighting effects have been obtained by Director Webster Campbell for the Corinne Griffith production, "What's Your Reputation Worth?" which will be shown at the Glendale theater today.

In one scene candles are the only light used. The scene represents a close-up of Corinne Griffith at a piano and this strange light for a photograph, gives an enchanting, alluring effect and presents the star in a more pleasing manner than she has ever been presented before.

In another scene, Corinne Griffith and Percy Marmont, her leading man, are shown chatting on a winter's eve before an open fireplace, the glowing embers furnishing the only light used in the scene. This gives a silhouette effect which is unusually attractive.

Back lighting is used to great advantage in the dream palace scene and on two occasions real moonlight has been photographed, giving the scenes a beauty impossible to obtain with artificial lights.

Palace Grand

George Walsh, starring in the William Fox production, "The Plunger," which tells a vivid and romantic story of Wall Street, will be the attraction at the Palace Grand theatre today only. The picture, from an original story by Thomas F. Fallon, was made under the direction of Dell Henderson. It has a most capable supporting cast and is lavish in production. Virginia Valli, often described as the girl with the perfect profile, plays opposite the star.

"The Plunger" concerns the adventures of "Take a Chance" Schuyler, an erstwhile office boy turned millionaire stock broker. It is said that his career as pictured in this production is typical of several cases well known on the stock exchange. His battle to win Alice Houghton, daughter of a veteran fellow broker who has been made a financial pauper by the clever manipulation of the stock market by a rejected suitor, is the theme of the story.

KIDNAPPING CASES BAFFLE POLICE

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 24.—As a result of the second melodramatic kidnapping in the streets here within 24 hours, Mrs. Jenie Adams, 18, who says she was married at the age of 14, was found unconscious today on a boulevard in South Chicago.

At Washington Boulevard hospital she told a sensational story of having been dragged into an auto by a man at South State and Sixty-third streets.

"The man in the auto smiled at me and asked me if I wanted to take a ride," she said. "I did not accept. He grabbed my hands and dragged me into the car. It seems that we rode all day and all last night.

"All that I recall is that he gave me a stick of gum and it must have made me unconscious."

She gave the police a good description of the man. Police now have the kidnapping of two oynug girls to solve.

City Manager's Views On Swimming Pool

Glendale, in order to keep pace with the splendid municipalities of Southern California, will have to have parks, playgrounds, and recreation centers. These are indispensable to a City of Homes. It would seem that having this splendid and convenient site available, the voters of the city might well afford this small investment that will secure for the boys and girls of Glendale and older people as well, a swimming pool and recreation center of their own, rather than to depend upon our neighbors for these facilities.

I wish that every voter and tax payer of Glendale might have heard Donald McMillan's address on this subject at the graduation exercises of the Intermediate school at the Palace Grand theater last Friday evening. Among other things he said:

"Swimming is the best form of exercise for physical development. The boys and girls of Glendale need clean, wholesome, recreation and opportunities to develop physically. There is nothing that affords a better opportunity for this than a swimming pool. Of course, we can and do use the swimming pool at Brookside, but that is a long way off, and when a fellow rides over there on a hot day on a bicycle he is almost too tired to swim when he gets there and when he gets back home he is hotter than when he started.

"On behalf of the boys and girls of Glendale, I appeal to the voters of our city to provide for us a swimming pool. We will do our part."

T. W. WATSON,
City Manager.

PATTERSON PARK AND SWIMMING POOL

A proposition will be on the ballot June 28 to authorize $22,000 for purpose of completing the payments for the purchase of Patterson avenue park and constructing thereon a swimming pool. This matter has been under discussion by the people of Glendale for a considerable time. The board of trustees, in response to numerous requests from individuals and civic organizations, has placed this matter before the electors of the city now for the third time. On November 20 of last year, a proposition to authorize $17,000 for the purpose of constructing a swimming pool on Patterson avenue was placed on the ballot and approved by more than two-thirds majority of the votes cast on that proposition, in that election. Legal technicalities developed, however, that made is unadvisable to issue the bonds, and the matter was again submitted in a slightly different form on March 29 last. The proposition then was to issue $66,000 of bonds, to be issued for the purchase and improvement of three parks. $22,000 of this issue was to be used to complete payments on the purchase price of the Patterson avenue park and to conconstruct thereon a swimming pool. $22,000 was to have been spent for the purchase and improvement of a park in the southern part of the city, and the other $22,000 was intended to be used for the same purpose in the central-eastern part of the city. This proposition did not receive the required two-thirds majority.

In response to a petition signed by more than 600 voters, the board has again placed the matter of authorizing funds for the construction of a swimming pool in Patterson avenue park before the voters in the form of a proposition to issue $22,000 of bonds, $5000 of which will be used to finish paying for the Patterson avenue park and $17,000 to construct a swimming pool therein.

We have received a number of questions concerning the Patterson avenue park and plans for constructing therein a swimming pool, in response to which the following is submitted:

This park is situated at the northwest corner of Patterson and Kenilworth avenues, having a frontage of 814 feet on Patterson avenue, and its area is about equal to two city blocks. The ground was purchased a little over a year ago from J. R. Gray, the purchased price being $10,000, which was to be paid in four equal amounts of $2500 each. Mr. Gray donated the first payment of $2500. It should be stated here that this was a real gift on the part of Mr. Gray as the ground was worth at that time every cent of the purchase price and has increased in value since that time.

There was also applied on the purchase price a sum of $2056.45, that was raised by a tax on the Valley View, Kenilworth and Grand view annexation districts. This was a duplicate tax paid by those districts in the first year after annexation to the city and was in addition to the regular city tax. Deducting this, as well as the $2500 donated by Mr. Gray, leaves a balance of $5,443.55 as the amount of the purchase price of this park site that is to be paid from the general funds of the city.

When it is considered that this park is situated within three-fourths of a mile of the center of the city, that it can be reached by the Pacific Electric car line within one block, and that it contains an area equal to two city blocks, it will be readily appreciated that the city is getting a bargain in this park site. This site has been carefully laid out. Provisions have been made for tennis courts, children's playground, swimming pool, picnic ground, and all the features that go to make up a real public park and playground. Over one thousand trees have been planted on this park site. At the rate of growth these trees have made during the past year and a half, it will be only a short time before the city of Glendale will have a beautiful, shaded park and picnic grounds that will be an asset to the city worth many times its cost.

It is here that it is proposed to build the swimming pool. It is planned that this swimming pool shall be of the most modern design and construction and strictly in accordance with the state requirements as to sanitation. The dimensions will be approximately 30 by 90 feet. It is possible that the price of material will come down sufficiently that the pool may be larger. The plans call for all the necessary dressing rooms, rest rooms, etc., that should accompany an institution of this kind. When in operation it will be under supervision at all times.

TO THE FAIR-MINDED

Voters of Glendale

In these few days before election various rumors about "BLUE LAWS" and "FANATICAL" LEGISLATION are being circulated and some rash statements and harsh insinuations have even crept into the political advertising of certain groups. We regret this tendency to stir up discord, and prefer a spirit of harmony, working shoulder-to-shoulder for all things which will build up our beautiful city. To set at rest any misgivings of fair-minded citizens who do not already personally know the GLENDALE MUNICIPAL LEAGUE candidates for the City Council (all of whom have lived in Glendale 12 years or more) and who may have been disturbed by temporary agitation, chiefly for political purposes, we publish the following signed statement on our position:

STATEMENT

We, the undersigned, individually and collectively, do positively affirm that we are not connected with any so-called "Blue Law" movement and have no knowledge of any attempt to enact such laws in Glendale. We believe that every man has the right to worship God WHEN and HOW he pleases.

We are pledged to no person, group of persons, or selfish interest whatever.

Our ONLY aim is a clean, economical, business administration of city affairs, serving the will of the people, and with our hands absolutely free to do so. The will of the majority of citizens, so far as it can be made known, should prevail.
